

What They Are Saying: TRUTH in Coverage Act

Dr. Elizabeth Woning, Co-Executive Director, CHANGED Movement:

“Childhood and adolescent sex-rejecting surgeries create lifelong patients. Sadly, countless young adults later regret these procedures and lack the financial means to reverse their effects, leading to ongoing trauma. The TRUTH in Coverage Act is a vital step toward providing essential care for this growing, at-risk population. We are grateful for Rep. Harshbarger and the courageous leaders in Congress who are willing to address this need.”

Kristina Rasmussen, Executive Director, Do No Harm:

“For too long, detransitioners have been invisible, manipulated then abandoned by those who deny the biological reality of sex. By requiring health insurers to pay for detransition care if they have paid for sex-rejecting procedures, Rep. Harshbarger's TRUTH in Coverage Act of 2026 protects patients, especially children, from the excesses of the gender movement.”

Dr. Michael Artigues, President of the American College of Pediatricians:

“Patients who experience serious complications or later seek restorative care should never be abandoned by the very insurance plans that paid for the original sex-rejecting procedures. The TRUTH in Coverage Act promotes fairness, transparency, and accountability by ensuring patients have access to health care to address complications and restore healthy bodily function to the greatest extent practicable. Every patient deserves continuity of care and access to restorative care.”

Ryan T. Anderson, President of Ethics and Public Policy Center (EPPC):

“Those who have been harmed by the lies of gender ideology deserve justice, and the TRUTH in Coverage Act marks an important beginning towards that goal. Thanks to the TRUTH in Coverage Act, young people harmed by sex-rejecting procedures will receive the care they need and the insurance coverage necessary to restore their health. Thanks to Rep. Harshbarger for leading the way on this critical issue.”

Terry Schilling, President, American Principles Project:

“Our medical elites incentivized the growth of the manipulative $4.5 billion transgender industry by abandoning children to the predatory practices of manipulative doctors. The TRUTH in Coverage Act will take vital steps to safeguard vulnerable patients and ensure that detransitions are able to get the care they need. Rep. Harshbarger and Sen. Marshall are delivering long overdue justice to the victims of medical and political malpractice.”

Craig DeRoche, President and CEO of Family Policy Alliance:

“For years, Family Policy Alliance has fought to protect children from irreversible surgeries and dangerous drugs, including drafting the first Help Not Harm bill in the nation. That effort has now become law in 27 states protecting more than 34 million children across the country. The TRUTH in Coverage Act affirms that every family needs fairness and transparency in the consequential health care coverage decisions for gender dysphoria. We applaud Rep. Harshbarger and Sen. Marshall for championing informed consent and true patient choice in health care.”
